Living Cost Spurt Now Levelled Off

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON — The sharp ten-month living cost spurt is dying down and a government expert forecast today a period of at least temporary stability.

Ever since the June outbreak of war in Korea, the official cost-of-living index had been leaping ahead every month. But yesterday's index for mid-April showed only an upward flicker over mid-March. In fact, by one alternate formula it stood stock still.

May Ease Pressure

Evan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics whose agency conducts the economic temperature-taking reflected in the index, told a reporter there was no question but that living costs have levelled off.

A period of relative stability could be expected to remove some of the pressures for liberalizing wage and price controls.

Meanwhile, there were these government control actions:

1. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle gave an estimated 150-200 general manufacturers, machinery makers and textile producers an additional 35 days—until July 2—to put new ceiling prices into effect. Businessmen had appealed for more time after May 28.

The manufacturers, doing a multi-billion dollar annual business, have been frozen at their highest prices for the Dec. 19-Jan. 15 period. The new ceilings will be based on pre-Korean selling prices, plus added costs since then.

Pay Raise Assured

Evidence Piles Up In Kidnaping

No Trace Of Missing California Girl, 10

SANTA ANA, Calif.—(AP)—Circumstantial evidence is being prepared today for grand jury action against Henry Ford McCracken, held on suspicion of kidnaping and slaying 10-year-old Patricia Jean Hull, who has been missing since last Saturday.

The 34-year-old guitar player, jailed last Sunday, told newsmen he knew that "the evidence is piling up against me, but I believe I have a fighting chance."

Sheriff James Musick said he had subjected McCracken, a convicted sex offender and former Detroit, to exhaustive questioning but the prisoner still maintains his innocence.

District Attorney James L. Davis said he will ask the Orange county grand jury tomorrow to indict McCracken on charges of murder, kidnaping and child stealing, although the fate of the girl has not been determined.

Key witnesses for the state, Davis said, will be Holly Holland, a house mover, who told officers that McCracken brought a little girl answering Patricia's description to a Buena Park motel late last Saturday afternoon, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Reynolds, who said they saw McCracken leading a girl from a Buena Park theater earlier Saturday.

Allies Chase Reds Across Parallel 38

TOKYO—(AP)—A powerful Allied task force lunged across Korea's 38th parallel today in a 13 mile strike through retreating Reds.

Americans in another tank-led force recaptured Chunchon and pushed on toward the border, 10 miles to the north. With Chunchon's fall the Reds lost the last important town taken in their latest offensive.

The Eighth army drove north with little trouble along the entire 125 mile front. Its commander, Lt. Gen. James Van Fleet, called it a Red - killing counter-offensive.

Enemy Forces Split

A big armored task force knifing up the east-central front paced Thursday's advances. The column, stretching as far as the eye could see, split retreating Chinese armies.

Its 13 mile drive across the parallel was Thursday's greatest. Elsewhere gains of four to six miles were general.

Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th corps commander, planned the big east-central thrust. AP Correspondent William C. Barnard reported Almond "personally directed the tremendous traffic" in the assembly area from a helicopter.

The task force pushed back up the line of the Reds' most powerful offensive thrust, fighting as it rumbled along. It reached the banks of the Choyang river in North Korea.

Chunchon is on the western flank of this sector, 45 miles northeast of Seoul. Americans driving into the town reported they captured "more enemy than we could handle."

Americans who had recaptured Kapyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul, struck north along the highway toward Hwachon in Red Korea. On their western flank British and Canadians advanced nearly six miles without finding any Reds.

Offensive Is Flop

Allied bombers and fighters flying ahead of the advance blasted the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Hwachon triangle in Red Korea.

This was the buildup area for the Reds' May 16 offensive. Van Fleet said that offensive ended in "complete failure" but the Communists still have power to strike again.

He said his Eighth army had seized the initiative and was "attacking along the entire front."

"There is no limitation on its objectives," Van Fleet said, adding: "The purpose is to kill as many Reds as possible and perhaps force them into another premature offensive."

Little Flower Parish Grows Big, Celebrates Its 25th Anniversary

DETROIT—(AP)—The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, fiery radio orator of the early 1930s, says, "if I had it to do over again I would not talk about economic and political change, but would speak in terms of ethical changes."

The priest made this remark yesterday at a news conference reviewing his 25 years as pastor of the famous shrine of the Little Flower parish.

The parish, in suburban Royal Oak, will celebrate its 25th anniversary Sunday.

Father Coughlin's broadcasts on economics and politics stirred wide controversy among Catholics and Protestants alike. His utterances were denounced by such Roman Catholic leaders as Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. The Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, rebuked him for calling President Roosevelt "a liar" and a "betrayer."

But the radio talks brought in large donations for a church building program.

Father Coughlin started his parish in 1926. It had only 28 families. The church was a small frame building.

The parish now has 1,800 families; a church plant which includes schools with an enrollment of 1,600 pupils and a teaching staff of 33. The present property is valued at $13,000,000.

Royal Oak, a small suburb a generation ago, now has grown into a city of 50,000. One of the city's best residential districts is the shrine of the Little Flower parish. Houses in the parish bring premium prices.

Court Action Threatens In Gas Tax Boost

Escanaba Lawmaker Rapped In Senate

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
LANSING—(AP)—The possibility of court action or a popular referendum today threatened a 1.5 cent gasoline tax increase approved by the legislature over a gubernatorial veto.

The most likely move was a suit in the state supreme court attacking the constitutionality of a second vote in the house on overriding.

Democrats Reconsider

There was still a possibility, however, that opponents would rush through a popular petition to block effectiveness of the act until the voters could express themselves on it in the November, 1952, election. CIO officials have served notice they would make this attempt, but the possibility of a court fight may defer the referendum attempt.

On the second attempt yesterday, four house Democrats jumped the party fence to vote with Republicans for overriding the veto of a bill to increase the gasoline tax from three to 4.5 cents a gallon starting June 1.

The four Democrats, plus the 66 votes of the full Republican membership produced a vote of 70 to 29 for overriding. This was three more than needed.

Heat On In Wayne

Preceding the vote, Ed Carey (D-Detroit), minority floor leader, laid the groundwork for the suit. He made a statement for the record that it was his belief that the constitution allowed only one vote on the question of overriding a veto.

Following Governor Williams' veto last week on the grounds that the 1.5 cent increase was excessive, the senate overrode.

The house, however, failed to override by one vote. The 66 Republicans were one short of the necessary vote when the Democrats stuck together.

The majority then slammed through a motion to reconsider this vote and then laid the motion on the table.

This was a move to gain time to force one or two Democratic votes to shift. The Wayne county road commission and Detroit city officials, who want the gas tax boost badly, put the heat on.

Reps. Michael J. O'Brien, John J. Fitzpatrick, Thomas C. O'Brien and Joseph G. O'Connor, all of Detroit, voted with the Republicans when the reconsideration was made yesterday.

Will Produce $25,000,000

The good roads federation, which has been pushing for increased highway taxes and a broad program of highway reform for years, estimated the 1.5 cent increase would produce an additional $25,500,000 a year. Other estimates run to $29,000,000.

The other part of the federation's financial program was a bill to boost the weight (license) tax on commercial vehicles $4,500,000 a year.

The governor, following the overriding of his veto, let this bill become law without his signature. He did so, he said, because there was no point "under the circumstances" of blocking it. He re-

Truman Asks Billions To Block Communism

Iran Situation Dangerous One, Bradley Admits

Atlantic Pact Can't Stop Russia Yet

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley told senators today he thinks President Truman was right in firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur but the "method" of doing it "probably could have been handled better."

This implied criticism of the summary fashion in which MacArthur was dismissed came at a session with Senate investigators in which Bradley also:

Testified the North Atlantic Treaty nations "do not have the capability, right now, of stopping an aggression by Russia."

Allies Misled?

Said that while Iran is a danger point he is "not too sure the Russians are going to start something in Iran before they start it somewhere else."

Bradley made the North Atlantic comment under questioning by Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), who, discussing the problem of prolonged war in Korea, asked if it wasn't "dreadfully wrong to give our allies the idea that we can defend more than we are actually capable of defending?"

Bradley replied that "the question of whether or not we can carry out our military commitments to conform to our diplomatic commitments is very much one of opinion." Then he continued:

Too Many Commitments

"It may be that right at this minute, we do have more diplomatic commitments than we can carry out militarily."

"Take the North Atlantic Treaty organization, for example: The twelve nations of the North Atlantic Treaty organization do not have the capability, right now, of stopping an aggression by Russia."

"I don't see why that should imply, however, that we shouldn't go on and have the North Atlantic Treaty organization, and try to encourage them to build up their security forces, because that is the way you get built up to that commitment."

Grand Jury Bill Sent To House

Immunity Provisions Not Too Popular

LANSING—(AP)—House conferees agreed last night to accept the stiff immunity provisions of the senate version of a bill to restore one-man grand juries.

The agreement was expected to provide the chief stumbling block to house passage of the compromise Friday.

The senate had provided that witnesses who refuse to testify must do so if they are granted immunity from prosecution. The house had provided that such a witness might refuse to accept testimony.

The one-man grand jury system was used in recent years to expose sensational charges of graft and corruption in state and local governments.

Criticism of the abuse of the powers of grand jurors and the use of the system to further the political ambitions of those connected with grand juries finally led to its abolition two years ago. It was supplanted with a three-man grand jury.

The bill to restore the one-man system retains important provisions designed to meet criticisms of the original system.

Three Have Narrow Escape In Soo Fire

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—(AP)—A grandmother and two grandchildren barely escaped with their lives as fire of undetermined origin destroyed their rural home near here today.

The grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Harwood, 65, and Wallace TenEyck, 10, were hospitalized with burns. The other grandchild, Bernadine TenEyck, 14, escaped unhurt.

The three were rescued by Ralph TenEyck, an uncle of the children, from the second story of Mrs. Harwood's home after he overheard their screams for help from his nearby home.

Legislators Recess For Struggle With Red-Ink Budget Bill

Lansing—(AP)—Michigan's adjournment-bound legislature took a breathing spell today while a senate committee struggled with a red-ink budget bill for next year and 20 conference committees haggled over house-senate differences.

The lawmakers were in recess for the day and night and will wind up tomorrow even if it means stopping the clock at the Friday midnight adjournment hour fixed weeks ago.

Conference Friday

The senate finance appropriations committee was the major bottleneck in the closing hours, still holding on to the $300,000,000-odd budget bill for next year. Indications were that the bill would not be in final form before late tonight or tomorrow. In any event, a conference to iron out house and senate differences on the budget was expected late tomorrow.

Deficit $35,000,000

The senate had approved a 4½-mill rate and a $350,000 ceiling, exempting six of the state's largest corporations from the full tax.

House Democrats tried unsuccessfully yesterday to switch the bill to Governor Williams' corporation profits tax bill, and will

Income Taxes Given 12½ Percent Boost In House Committee

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee drove today to complete the rough draft of a $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill after voting a 12½ per cent increase in individual income taxes.

That provision, and another controversial one raising the corporation excess profits tax by some $730,000,000 a year, were inserted by the Democratic majority of the committee yesterday in a riproaring session behind closed doors.

Railroaded By Democrats

Angry Republican members declared the Democrats framed the two big revisions at a secret conference and pledged the majority members to back them as a unit. "Legislating by caucus," Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) called it. Rep. Reed of New York, senior Republican member, declared the Democrats "railroaded the provisions down our necks."

Under the new individual income tax plan, taxpayers would figure their tax under existing rates, then add 12½ per cent to the total liability. This would replace the committee's earlier plan for an increase of three percentage points in the rate in each tax bracket.

The new plan is more favorable than the original one for single taxpayers with income of up to $8,000 a year and for married taxpayers with incomes under $15,000. Bigger taxpayers, however, would pay more.

West Germany Expands Tree Planting Program

Drastic overcutting of the forests during World War II and the postwar years in Germany has made necessary a great increase in reforestation work in an endeavor to offset the heavy drain on the forest resources.

This was the information brought here by Ernst G. Strehlke and Ernest Pein, foresters from the British zone of West Germany, who are observing mechanical planting methods on the Hiawatha National Forest this week.

Much timber was used for war purposes by the Nazi regime and for the rebuilding of bomb-damaged buildings since the war, according to the foresters. Valuable woods also were burned for fuel because of the shortage of coal. Every piece of wood is now utilized in some way.

"When some American foresters visited Germany last year they watched the crowds of women picking up small pieces of wood and said they found this one of the most interesting experiences on their trip," Strehlke said.

All Wood Utilized
Strehlke added a new industry has developed in West Germany from the utilization of waste wood. Old stumps, roots and other scraps of wood are collected and broken into chips. Resins are mixed with the wood chips and pressed into boards used for various building and manufacturing purposes.

In the pre-war era, Germany carefully husbanded its forest crop for permanent yield, according to the foresters. Scotch pine and Norway spruce were clear-cut in separated small areas, and then replanted. Beach, oak and other hardwoods were selectively cut. Forestry practices were abandoned during the war, and only recently has there been an effort to return to a sustained yield program.

To Plant Million Acres
The tree planting program in the British Zone of West Germany calls for the planting of 1,000,000 acres within the next three years. All planting is done by hand, the Germans said. One half the forest area is privately owned, one third state owned and the remainder under the ownership of associations and municipalities. Paper, plywood, lumber, furniture, railway ties, post, poles and other forest products are produced in the zone.

"Horses are used to haul most of the timber to the railroads," Strehlke explained, "although in recent years the trucks have increased."

Heads Forestry School
Strehlke, age 53, lives in Westerhof, a small village in Post Northern, Germany, and is employed as a state forester. He has a degree of doctor of forestry science. His present position is oberforstmeister and director of the Forest School of Westerhof and Dusterhof. He spent some 20 years in forestry administration in Prussia.

Pein, age 67, lives in Halstenbek, a town of 6,500 population in Holstein, Germany, about ten miles from Hamburg. He has a professional education in forest-plant and forest-seed fields. He has been for 32 years the joint owner and senior partner in a forest nursery firm, which produces 300 million seedlings annually for state and private forests. The company was founded by his great-grandfather in 1820.

Halstenbek long has been a center for forest nurseries. The several companies operating nurseries there produce one and a half billion seedlings a year.

Refugees Create Problems
The constant stream of refugees coming from Russian-occupied East Germany is creating a difficult overcrowding problem in the Western zone, the German foresters said.

Refugees are being crowded into homes all over West Germany. In Holstein province where Pein resides the population has been doubled. Many of them have been placed in homes in small villages and rural areas, and as a result many of them cannot find work because they are too far removed from the factories.

"The refugees are sneaking out of the Russian zone every night," Strehlke said. "They come only with their baggage. We have to find clothes for many of them."

Overcrowded Homes
The situation in the Strehlke and Pein households gives a good idea of the overcrowded conditions.

Strehlke has an eight-room home which was comfortable for his wife and four children. But since the refugees began pouring in, he now has a total of 25 persons crowded in his dwelling. Three different families are using the facilities of the single kitchen.

Pein's family numbers four, but has taken in two extra families in his seven-room house. In addition, he accommodates many temporary visitors.

Strehlke indicated that the government provides a small compensation to home owners who give shelter to refugees. There is much sharing of worldly possessions with the result that the benefactors endure virtually the same standard of living as the refugees.

"More housing is needed to relieve the overcrowded conditions, but we are short of money and building materials," Strehlke explained. He expressed hope, however, that somehow the serious problem would be remedied eventually.

Pein and Strehlke, accompanied by members of the U. S. Forest Service staff from Escanaba, went to the Manistique area today to inspect the forest nursery and watch tree planting machines in operation. They will return tomorrow night.

Farrell Sells College Here

McDonoughs Acquire Business School

Atty. and Mrs. Howard J. McDonough of Iron River today announced purchase of the 46-year-old Cloverland Commercial College in Escanaba.

The transaction was completed Tuesday when Ernest Farrell, owner of the Cloverland College for four years, went to Iron River to sign final papers. State approval of the transfer of the college license was confirmed by telephone message from Lansing.

Take Over June 1

The McDonoughs will take over the Escanaba school June 1. The college, established in 1905, offers a year-round training in business subjects with both day and night classes.

The McDonough home at 14 Eighth avenue in Iron River has been purchased by the Norman Plous family, but the McDonoughs will not move until mid-July to the Escanaba apartment they have rented at 301 South 13th street. The family consists of Eileen, an Iron River high senior, Ann who will graduate from the eighth grade, Robert, a Northern college student at Marquette, and Paul, a student at the University of Michigan.

Mrs. McDonough established the Iron County Business College in the Kelly building in 1940 and her school has trained over 500 young men and women during the past 11 years. She plans to sell the college at Iron River and has several interested prospects. The Iron County college has a capacity of about 25 students.

Going to Florida
The Cloverland college is located at 801-3 Ludington street, Escanaba. It has seats for 150 students, a large assembly hall, five classrooms, and it offers courses in higher accounting, executive-secretarial, secretarial, stenographic, business administration, shorthand reporting and income tax computation. On the staff are a shorthand instructor, Mrs. Harold Valentine, an accounting instructor, Donald Moen, and Hilmer Johnson, a certified public accountant who teaches the tax reporting class.

The Escanaba school, like the Iron County college, is accredited for GI training. Atty. McDonough will be manager of the Cloverland college. He plans to retain his law practice in Iron River and he will return to his offices in the Kelly building there on Saturday of each week. A graduate of the University of Detroit law school, he has practiced in Iron River since 1922. He is presently Iron county probation officer and friend of the court. He has been active in Legion circles and civic affairs. Mrs. McDonough, a past president of the Carle Jacobs Bond Musicals, has been an active clubwoman, a soprano soloist with the St. Agnes senior choir, and a Legion Auxiliary member.

Mr. Farrell will remain here for the summer. He plans to move to Florida to seek improvement in his health next fall.

NURSE LOSES 29 LBS. RECOMMENDS RENNEL

"Have been using Rennel Concentrate as per instructions and have been very much satisfied with the results. I lost 29 pounds in seven weeks and never felt better," writes Doris Wild, 2520 Brest Road, Taylor Centre, Mich. "Apart from the satisfaction of losing weight it seemed to give me pep, and I have been able to go about my work much better. I am a practical nurse and could not go on a strict reducing diet. I eat quite normally, just a little less on bread and potatoes. Several of my friends are using Rennel on my recommendation. Rennel is wonderful."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, just return it for your money back. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on Rennel.

U. P. Industrial Plan Studied

Advisory Committee To Be Appointed

Formation of an Upper Peninsula industrial advisory committee of the Michigan Department of Economic Development was recommended at a meeting held at the House of Ludington last evening.

Personnel of this committee will be appointed at a regular meeting of the Michigan Economic Development commission in Lansing on Monday.

Attending last night's meeting were: Burr Sherwood, Iron River, and Lawrence Walsh, Ontonagon, Upper Peninsula members of the commission; Dr. G. C. Dillman, president of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology; George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau; Director Don Weeks, George Billings and Arne Ervast, of the department's staff.

The advisory committee is designed to assist the personnel of the state agency in furthering the industrial development of the Upper Peninsula region. It was suggested by Dr. Dillman that leaders in the copper and iron mining, woodworking, manufacturing and agricultural industries be represented on the group.

The Michigan Tech head pointed out that the mining companies are spending thousands of dollars in research work looking toward the utilization of low grade ores in the Upper Peninsula. Progress is being made along this line and it is likely that the area's vast resources may be exploited within a few years, Dr. Dillman said.

Walsh pointed to the need for industrial diversification in the Upper Peninsula, and expressed the hope that mining and lumbering companies would someday fabricate more end products in the area.

Find Trail Of Missing Woman

Searchers Fear They May Be 'Too Late'

Search for a 60-year-old Menominee county woman, missing from her home in Gourley township since Monday, continued today with authorities expressing fear that if and when she is found it may be "too late."

Darkness and hordes of mosquitoes last night drove a posse of 50 men out of a swamp where they had discovered the woman's tracks.

Mrs. Manuel Roucheaux disappeared from her home at Jam Dam community Monday and has not been seen since.

Footprints believed to be hers were followed deep into a swamp about six miles south of Harris near the Delta-Menominee county line. A shoe and stocking identified as hers were found by the searchers. Strips of cloth believed to be from her dress were found on the ground and caught on branches.

About ten officers, including state police of Gladstone and Iron Mountain, conservation officers, and Menominee sheriff's officers, and 40 Gourley township residents joined in the search.

"Tough going" was reported in following the woman's trail through mud and water of a swamp. A Coast Guard plane from Traverse City patrolled the area Tuesday to aid searchers on the ground.

Authorities at the close of the search last night expressed doubt they would find the woman "in time." The posse set out again this morning shortly after daylight.

Two Poppy Days Sponsored Here

Legion Auxiliary To Aid War Veterans

The American Legion Auxiliary of Cloverland Post of Escanaba will on Friday and Saturday conduct the traditional poppy day sales to honor the war dead and assist disabled veterans and their families.

Wearing of the red poppy is a tribute to the young men of the nation who have given their lives in defense of their country in World Wars I and II, and in the present conflict in Korea, Mrs. Olson said.

Disabled veterans of both world wars have been working for months in hospitals making the flowers which will be offered for sale in Escanaba on Friday and Saturday. Employment has been given more than 10,000 disabled veterans in making the 30 million poppies distributed throughout the country.

Proceeds from the sale of the poppies go into the rehabilitation and child welfare funds of the American Legion and Auxiliary. The money will be used to support the vast work of these organizations for the welfare of disabled veterans and veterans' families during the coming year.

Two Will Bid For Convention

Martha's Vineyard, Miami Want OWAA

Martha's Vineyard Island in Massachusetts will present an invitation to the Outdoor Writers Association of America, at its annual convention here in July, to hold its 1952 meeting in the eastern vacation area.

Lenox E. Bigelow, field representative of the Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission, writes from Boston:

"Already several meetings have been held by a special committee to make plans for such a convention. Two other state departments, the Division of Marine Fisheries and the Division of Fisheries and Game, are also wholeheartedly prepared to cooperate to provide good fishing. Nantucket Island and Cape Cod leaders are also making plans to entertain the OWAA members in their respective areas."

The City of Miami, Florida, will also submit a bid for the 1952 convention. Officials of Miami's convention bureau will come to the Escanaba meeting.

Escanaba won the 1951 convention at Moosehead Lake, Maine, last June in a three-cornered contest with Martha's Vineyard and Miami.

St. Joseph's Music Students Please Crowd

Before a large audience, the music pupils of St. Joseph's school, under the able direction of Sister Mary Cedella, gave an unusually fine recital on Wednesday evening.

The program opened with piano numbers on the beautifully decorated stage, with soft colored spots on each pianist as they played. The final number was a vocal solo exceptionally well done by Winifred Lancour. She sang "Ave Maria". The girls were gowned in lovely formals.

"Major Scale Takes Command" the second part of the program, a play in two scenes, took the music students through the rest of the evening beginning with Judy Groos as Princess Melodia who sent Major Scale on a mission to bring back three things: first, a picture of the past; second, a musical picture of all nations, including America's south; third, a real live fairy.

Major Scale fears the task is too great, but leaves and while he is away the cast amused themselves Corrine Bernier sang "Gavotte" by Popper, in a clear, sweet voice.

The Glee club numbers next were enjoyed immensely by the audience and they were called back for an encore. They sang the nonsense number "Looking for The Lost Chord". Beginning with the opening stanzas of "The Lost Chord" they merged into a medley of old-time numbers. This was an interesting selection and very well done.

The soft sweet voice of Winifred Lancour closed the first scene with the number, "My Hero" and the audience insisted on more. She sang "Only a Rose" as an encore.

The second scene was the major fulfillment of the three wishes for the Princess. The Fairy, Mary Weber, waved her wand before each number in the scene performed. Cleverly costumed pupils dressed in colonial costumes, yellow and green formals with formal, long mitts, Tyrolean mountain climbing costumes, a lace shawled Cuban miss, Swiss crowns and present time peddle pusher costumes climaxed by the Tumble Town Cake Walk done in black face, and the three wishes were fulfilled.

The final numbers done by the young Rhythm band were very effective and done in precision timing. At the close of the program Sister Cedella was presented with an armful of roses, as tribute to her fine teaching and patience in presenting such an extensive program.

State Road Problem Is Eased By Passage Of Gas Tax Boost Bill

MICHIGAN'S road problem was considerably eased yesterday when the house of representatives voted to override the governor's veto of the one and a half-cent gasoline tax increase measure. The house previously had voted to sustain the veto but kept the issue alive by agreeing to reconsider.

Democratic members voted solidly in support of the governor when the bill first reached the house after the veto but four Democrats from Detroit reversed their vote the second time. The margin was sufficient to achieve the two-thirds approval that was necessary. Rep. Einar Erlandsen of Escanaba who voted for the bill originally but who voted against it after the veto

Hit-Run Traffic Cases Increasing

A sharp increase in the number of hit and run motor vehicle accident cases has developed in this area within recent months and law enforcement officials believe that one reason for the increase is the failure of garages to report auto damages resulting from accidents.

The motor vehicle law requires garages to report to law enforcement authorities all cases where a car has been damaged by accident or where there is evidence of a vehicle having been struck by a bullet. The act provides a weapon to gain evidence in motor vehicle accident cases and particularly in hit and run cases.

It is recognized, of course, that failure of the garages to report the accident cases is not deliberate nor is it designed to protect willful traffic violators. It is simply laxity in observance of the act. Complete compliance, however, would prove helpful in running down some of the hit-run culprits.

Concentration Of Power Is 'The Process Of Death'

THIRTY years ago Woodrow Wilson, a president who was also a distinguished historian and a profound student of government, said: "The history of liberty is the history of the limitation of government power, not the increase of it. When we resist the concentration of power, we are resisting the process of death, because concentration of power is what always precedes the destruction of human liberties."

In the ensuing 30 years, we have seen concentrations of power in government beyond anything that Wilson could have conceived. Millions upon millions of people have been reduced to slavery. Great nations are ruled by terror. The clock of freedom has been turned back centuries.

We Americans are among the relatively few peoples who are free. But we will not remain free unless we strongly and effectively resist the concentration of power in government—and so, in Wilson's fine phrase, resist the process of death.

Worlds Of Red Tape In OPS Rules

IF anyone thinks the man who runs a retail store has an easy time of it, he should read some of the directives put out by the Office of Price Stabilization concerning what retailers, and people in allied lines such as eating places, must do to conform with the price control law.

These directives, in many cases, are extremely complex. To comply with them, a great variety of records—which the retailer may or may not have on hand—must be consulted. An enormous amount of work, of course, is involved.

News reports say that OPS officials have been disappointed by the fact that a great many businessmen just haven't done what the law requires within the time allotted them to make their reports and post their price lists. This, it can be confidently said, isn't because retailers and others are callous law breakers. It simply reflects the fact that many of them, particularly small operators, haven't the time, the staffs, or the knowledge to comply with regulations which have puzzled some of the top experts in business management and procedure. It reflects the further fact that, on numerous occasions, OPS field men have not fully understood the orders either, and that on other occasions, orders have been conflicted with each other and have been impossible to follow.

This always happens when government takes a hand in running the economy and puts an army of eager bureaucrats in charge. The retailers, the restaurant keepers, and everybody else want to be good law-abiding citizens and do their full part in the current effort to check price inflation. But about all they get out of it is more and more headaches. And the situation seems to be getting more confused all the time.

Yellow Peril

When the grass is growing whiskers that you've got to go and trim, and the summer air so fragrant gives you lots of pep and vim, then you oil your trusty mower and prepare to exercise, and you're proud of all the green expanse that spreads before your eyes. But some sudden yellow spots appear to prove a weedy crime, and you know that once again you've come to dandelion time.

Of those pesky little buttercups, you wish you could be rid, but they always come a-poppin' out like measles on a kid. You attack them with your digger in a very frantic way, but where one is taken out, there's two to bloom another day. And you also use your chemicals to put them on the blink, but in spite of all your careful toil, they never seem to shrink.

When they reach their peak production, you are mad enough to fight, and you think, of folks who eat the things, it darn sure serves 'em right! It disgusts you that your sprinkler, giving water to your grass, also brings a drink to inkling weeds that shine like polished brass. And you say, please Lord, next year when comes the summer sun sublime, won't You please take steps to do away with dandelion time?

WASHINGTON—One result of the MacArthur controversy is a field day for the lobbyists. With the country absorbed with the MacArthur dispute, the lobbyists are able to put across all sorts of fancy deals without the public realizing it. One of the latest is a move to reverse the supreme court in regard to tidelands oil.

In 1936, when President Roosevelt tried to reverse the supreme court by an act of congress, it made headlines for weeks. But without benefit of headlines, the big oil lobbyists are now trying to reverse the supreme court ruling that the submerged oil lands off the coast of the United States belong to all the 48 states, not merely to California, Texas and Louisiana.

Last week the lobbyists quietly won out in their initial move. They finagled the Senate interior committee into voting—7 to 4—to return tidelands oil to these three states.

The vote was over the objection of Chairman Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, who tried to block the oil lobby with a compromise bill, and who spent two hours privately trying to persuade Senator Russell Long of Louisiana, spokesman for the lobby, to compromise. But Long wouldn't budge.

CLOSED-DOOR VOTE

In the showdown voting behind closed doors, GOP Senator Hugh Butler from the inland state of Nebraska, with no water boundary other than the Missouri river, showed up with the proxies of two other GOP senators—Eaton from the landlocked state of Montana, and Watkins from the desert state of Utah.

Joined by Senator Cordon of Oregon, this made four Republican votes for the oil companies.

Chairman O'Mahoney had counted on the vote of the Senate Majority Leader McFarland of Arizona, since the majority leader is supposed to vote with the administration on all major policies. However, McFarland owes a debt to persuasive, potent Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, the man who really made him majority leader, and McFarland joined two other Democrats—Long of Louisiana and Smathers of Florida—in overruling the supreme court. O'Mahoney was able to muster only three votes besides his own—Anderson of New Mexico, Murray of Montana and Lehman of New York, all Democrats.

After the tidelands vote, McFarland rose to leave, sheepishly offered his proxy to O'Mahoney on some minor votes.

"It's too late now," snorted O'Mahoney. "I could have used it a while ago."

WETBACK WALLACE

For many years the minister of Switzerland, popular Charles Bruggmann, had the benefit of a vegetable garden cultivated by one of the capital's most famous gardeners—a vice president of the United States.

Bruggmann's brother-in-law happens to be Henry Wallace; and while Wallace was vice president he couldn't resist the urge to get his hands into the soil. So every spring he was a regular 5.30 a. m. visitor at the Swiss legation grounds.

The other day the Swiss minister met an old friend at the state department who asked about the vegetable garden.

"Ah," replied the minister with a twinkle, "we don't enjoy any of that cheap labor any more."

CHINESE UNREST

It's always difficult to know exactly what is happening in such a vast country as China, but intelligence reports, plus news from missionaries, all indicate growing dissatisfaction with the Communist regime. Though General MacArthur testified that the Chinese Reds were consolidating their hold on China, Allied intelligence is pretty much the opposite.

Here are some straws in the Chinese wind:

1. Anti-Communist guerrilla bands are operating in South China. In many sections, the Communists control only the cities, ports and rail centers.

2. The famine this year has been worse than usual. Several million have died, and the Communists get the blame.

3. Mao is torn between his rival, Li Li-San, who is virtually Russian regent of Manchuria, and Chinese moderates on the other hand who claim Mao takes too many orders from Moscow.

4. Chinese armies long have been considered the personal property of their commanders, and these commanders don't like to see their troops decimated by casualties.

When this writer was in China some years ago, there was no central government, but regional rule by the commanders of certain armies. That is why the heavy casualties in Korea are likely to hurt. The Chinese are accustomed to seeing death all around them. But a military commander is jealous of his power and doesn't like to see his personal army dwindle.

Nothing to Back It Up

There's More To Rise In Rearming Costs Than The Impact Of Inflation

By W. C. BRYANT

(Wall Street Journal)

WASHINGTON — Government leaders are exaggerating the impact of inflation on the cost of rearming.

In doing so, they magnify the size of the inflation itself. Why? One reason might be to persuade Congress of the need to continue price control powers beyond their scheduled June 30 deadline. The Administration wants more power, not less.

By centering attention on the high cost of the biggest chunk of the budget, defense, these officials hope to impress voters and lawmakers. They fear Congress, left to draw its own conclusions, might let their price control powers expire when the June 30 deadline of the Defense Production Act arrives.

For a first-hand sample of misinformation, harken to the chief stabilizer, Mr. Eric Johnston, in Chicago: "We all know that last fall, Congress passed a multi-billion dollar tax bill to increase income taxes on individuals and corporations. What happened to the money? Didn't it buy the planes and ships and tanks and guns that we ordered for our program of defense? It was supposed to."

Mr. Johnston's conclusions. "It didn't," Mr. Johnston sadly concludes. "Inflation stole the whole take from that new tax bill."

Now there were two tax bills last year. They are estimated to raise $9,500 million a year. So Mr. Johnston is implying that inflation alone—not the expanded arms program—is costing the military buyers and the taxpayers upwards of $9,500 million annually.

That would mean about 23% of the funds voted for the armed forces since last June has gone up the flue.

Mr. Johnston also gave his audience a few "examples of inflation's dirty work."

A heavy anti-aircraft gun cost $160,000 before the Korean war started last June and now costs $250,000, up 56%; a Garand M-1 rifle cost $41 last June, is now priced at $64, for another 56% rise. A pair of combat service boots, $5.72 before Korea, is now $10.91, a truly astronomical jump of 91%.

Other officials have dug up a few more shockers. The Assistant Director of Price Stabilization, Edward F. Phelps, Jr., told the U. S. Chamber of Commerce that a General Patton tank now costs $240,000, an increase of 28% over the June, 1950, cost of $193,000.

Says 20% Rise Through Inflation

Undersecretary of Defense Robert Lovett told a Congressional committee that the armed forces lost $2 billion in buying power through inflation for every $10 billion voted to them for defense between April, 1950, and April, 1951. In other words, he figures inflation cost the military an average of 20%.

A goodly portion of every $10 billion of defense money goes for wages for men in uniform and government civilian workers.

Their pay scales haven't been raised so the $2 billion increase in costs must be blamed on prices of supplies and equipment bought for the armed forces. Percentage-wise, these prices would have to rise much more than 20% to get the overall effect Mr. Lovett claims.

The burden of proof is on these Government officials to show that the higher prices paid by the armed forces are solely the result of inflation. Certainly they dwarf any of the commonly accepted yardsticks.

Wholesale prices, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, have gone up 16% since last June, and prices of metals and metal products, which bear directly on anti-aircraft guns, rifles and tanks, are up 10%. Consumers' prices, the Bureau reports, have risen 8.4%, and average hourly earnings of manufacturing workers have gone up 8%.

Apparently inflation is much worse for the military than for anyone else.

A budget officer at the Defense Establishment says the "examples of inflation's dirty work" were obtained by comparing actual contract costs. The armed forces were asked to explain the big increases. Their reply, passed through several echelons of "brass hats," was higher prices for raw materials and component parts.

But the budget expert allows also that there were some "intangibles" mixed up with inflation in the cost figures. Some increase—he thinks not much—came from insisting on faster deliveries than usual.

War Contracts to New Suppliers

Contracts were placed with companies that hadn't been making things for Uncle Sam before. That was true of tanks and of electronic equipment for tanks and anti-aircraft guns; it may have been true also of combat boats. When they went out to place these orders, the Government agents weren't always in the best bargaining position.

They'd been told by higher-ups to seek out new suppliers, "to broaden the base" for military production. They ran into some companies, officials recall, which weren't eager to become munitions makers. But the heat was on to keep the military buying pace high, way up around a $1 billion a week.

That's a change from peacetime, when most companies supplying the armed forces have to hustle for contracts and submit competitive bids. Military contracts were smaller, just a sideline for many contractors; they didn't always bear their full share of the companies' overhead costs.

In new defense plants and in companies where military business is now big business, a proportionate amount of the overhead expenses is more likely to be included in the contract price nowadays, an Army man observes.

The renegotiation law allows for a sharing of these expenses by the Government. It also tends to keep military buyers from pinching pennies. They know the renegotiation board will review their work and claim refunds, if they're overgenerous. Figures on increased prices make no allowance for any possible refunds.

Other Factors for Rising Costs

All these factors would have raised the prices of military supplies, even if there'd been no inflation. The budget officer concedes that "it is impossible to say what's true inflation" in the cited figures. And another spokesman suggests that the Government planners may be using the term inflation "too broadly."

From their point of view, it's perhaps fortunate that the cost of inflation isn't easily segregated from the price-raising effects of haste, bungling, and reconversion. The big increases loosely blamed on inflation have excited some lawmakers already.

But strangely, the victims of this loosely-defined inflation are not taking the planners' own medicine. The military buyers have insisted that most of the things they buy should be kept out from under price controls.

Good Evening ...

FISHIN' FUN — Escanaba, Gladstone and all the other towns along the shore of the bay or the Great Lakes have so much to be thankful for.

"There is a good story for you sometime," said Hugh Grow, Escanaba Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Kids at the Escanaba yacht basin, some with a bit of string and a bent pin, catching rock bass no bigger than the palm of your hand—but having a swell time. Out in Nebraska, where Hugh spent his boyhood, the big Mississippi goes rolling along one whole side of the state. But the water is muddy and catfish aren't kid-size.

Here and at Gladstone the youngsters can also try their worm-baited hooks on perch, larger bass in season, and many of them soon learn to cast and do battle with Northern pike.

AND THE SWIMMING—Towns such as Escanaba also are fortunate in the opportunity to provide wide parks and beaches for their children.

This year Escanaba will open its new swimming beach on the outer shore of Ludington Park. The long-awaited opening will be worthwhile, for the new bath house is one of the finest to be found in any city of this size, while the grounds surrounding it have been attractively landscaped.

Walks and driveways, lawns, trees and shrubs seem to have appeared like magic this spring. Yet behind the development is years of planning and work.

A LITTLE CARE—Many parents are fearful about permitting their children to go to Ludington park to fish. They might fall in.

That they might, and the solution to the problem is so simple that many parents overlook it. The answer is for the parents to accompany their youngsters to the park. You'll discover you're not too old to find relaxation in the sight of youngsters playing, in gulls and terns wheeling across the sky, and sail boats scudding before a breeze.

You'll also learn that—despite some opinion to the contrary—most youngsters are remarkably careful.

In fact they are more careful than some adults. One recent sunny day at the park we observed whisky and beer bottles tossed in the driveways, the tracks of cars across the new lawn—and on the beach a fullgrown man was shooting a rifle at a target on a pile of rocks.

RUSHING THE SEASON—And we also saw Robert "Bob" Clayton, city parks and forestry superintendent, walking toward the rifleman, apparently with the intention of telling him to cease and desist.

Bob is indefatigable in his work, for you will find him around the parks on Sundays and holidays when other folks are having a day off. And if you judge a man by his accomplishments, those flower and shrubby plantings in our parks speak up in praise of him.

At the new beach work is under way to open the swimming season as soon as possible, and as soon as the weather will permit. One thing is sure, when the beach is opened to the public every effort will be made to safeguard the lives of swimmers.

Qualified lifeguard will be on duty, safe swimming areas will be indicated, and the city will have done its part to protect the public.

ISLAND ADVENTURE—In Ludington Park, separated from the mainland by two channels, is Sand Island.

Now a nesting place for terns whose noisy cries can be heard blocks away, the island is a challenge to adventurous youngsters who go there by boat or by swimming and wading the south channel. Perhaps some of the desire to reach the island despite the hazard involved might be overcome by connecting the island with a bridge spanning the south channel.

Whatever is done, Ludington Park will grow in popularity. And many years from now grown men will recall those happy days of boyhood when they caught rock bass with a bent pin and a bit of string.

Some of today's oldtimers will tell you that Ludington Park is not the same as it used to be. They are speaking from the fond recollection of youth and with that we sympathize, but all that made the park an attractive place to youngsters is still there—plus improvements that mean greater pleasure for old and young.

WORDS TO WATCH

Sacramento: What, exactly, is the difference between the words special and especial?—J. B. M.

A. These words are much alike, but there is a fine distinction in their meanings, as these examples will show:

Avoid: "I want to make an especial announcement." Better say: I want to make a special announcement.

Avoid: "I like fruit, specially apples." Better say: I like fruit, especially apples.

Avoid: "This is specially for you." Better say: "This is especially for you."

Avoid: "This is an especial occasion." Better say: This is a special occasion.

Butler: Our speech class wants to know how to pronounce the word toupee. Our dictionaries show only "too-PEE," but we have never heard it that way.—Jim.

A. Nor have I for a great number of years. The Standard American pronunciation is: too-PAY. The word is frequently spelled toupet (the French form), also pronounced: too-PAY.

Houston: My neighbor's young son has just had his tonsils and adenoids removed. I'm sorry for the child, but his mother is causing me to become anti-social by her continual references to Johnny's "addie-noises." Where in the world did she get such a pronunciation?—Mrs. M. L. T.

A. Where? Lady, PLEASE! She should pronounce the word as you do, of course, ADD-uh-noiz.

Which is more dangerous for a man—to allow his wife to drive a new car or to refuse to let her?

Alaska Railway Hires Eskimos

Labor Experiment Is Being Made

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — The Alaska Railroad and some Alaska contractors are solving a manpower problem this summer in a unique but very logical way: They have hired Eskimos.

In previous years Eskimos and Indians in Alaska have worked as salmon canneries during the summer fishing season. But this is the first time native labor has been tried at so great a distance from the natives' homes.

"We have high hopes they'll make excellent workmen," said Col. J. P. Johnson, general manager of the railroad. "Already we find they catch on quickly, and try hard to do the right things."

Orientation Problem

For many of the 250 Eskimos the railroad has hired, it is their first close contact with the white man's neon-lighted civilization. Though they have seen airplanes continually since the late 1920's, and ridden in them often, this is their first sight of locomotives, trains, railroad tracks, and cities.

And that raises a big problem. "We wonder if any provision has been made by the contractors and the railroad for the orientation of the Eskimo and the Indian worker to his new surroundings," said the 49th Star, weekly newspaper here.

"Has any provision been made for the native worker's recreation, for his education in how to get along for a brief summer in a beehive of easy dollars?" the paper asked.

The chief problems, observers point out, are the white man's easily obtained liquor and other vices. The untutored Alaska native, it has been found, will indulge in these to the extent of his complete moral ruin if precautions are not taken.

Rally to Responsibility

Some means should be supplied to prevent the natives from falling prey to these vices, the 49th Star pointed out, and the natives should be encouraged "to convert their wages into better housing, health and education for themselves and their families."

This writer inquired of the railroad and found that some provisions have been made for such safeguarding of the best interests of the Eskimos.

"We had a little trouble with a few of them when they first reached Anchorage," said a railroad spokesman. "But leaders were designated among them, and of the Eskimos went uptown, their own leaders went along and saw to it that they got back safely. They seem to rally well to responsibility."

Protective Steps

The spokesman said the railroad has flown the Eskimos in on a six months' contract and will fly them back promptly when the contract is complete.

"We are taking all possible measures to assure their earnings reaching home, and to guarantee but the Eskimo themselves will reach home in the shortest possible time after their contract is terminated," the spokesman said.

"We have to bear in mind that these people have never held regular jobs, never counted on trade for livelihood, or met each day with the same routine.

"If we are to integrate them into our society, we must, first of all, keep them from adopting our vices. Next we must teach them our skills. Finally we must create in them the same responsibilities we feel toward family and society in general," and Alaska official said.

Kefauver Probe Makes Nevada Gambling Boom

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (NEA)—They're seriously considering erecting a statue to Sen. Estes Kefauver in the center of this town.

They ought to. As a result of the crime probe he headed, the city's legalized gambling is enjoying an unprecedented boom. With illegal gambling considerably reduced in Miami, Chicago, Cleveland and the other big cities, the big spenders out to make a fast buck on the wheel or crap table are flocking to Las Vegas.

Weekend reservations at the flatter hotels like the Last Frontier, Flamingo, Desert Inn, Thunderbird and El Rancho are getting scarce for next winter. Motels and private rooms are jammed all the time.

In the first three months of this year the state took in $542,326.91 for gambling taxes — two per cent of the gross — and license fees on slot machines. That's a record high.

Even seasoned old gamblers admit they've never seen the likes of what has been going on here in the last few months. The dice tables, gambling rooms, roulette wheels and slot machines are getting a fabulous 24-hour-a-day play. At four in the morning the "strip" is just as jammed with gamblers and good-time seekers as it is at noon or midnight. The click of the dice and whir of the slots are never silenced.

"We always have good money in town," explains one operator. "Now we have important money in town. Why? Because the investigation turned a bright, hot light on illegal gambling in other parts of the country. And suddenly a lot of people decided the desert climate of southern Nevada was absolutely necessary to their health."

By no stretch of the imagination are licensed Las Vegas operators trying to sell legalized gambling to the rest of the country. That would ruin their business. But they claim that Nevada has a unique situation suited to legalized gambling which you find nowhere else in the U. S.

"The only two towns of any size are Las Vegas with 24,000 and Reno with 30,000 people. This makes it possible to control legalized gambling," an operator explains.

Since 1949, when national attention began to focus on the national syndicate's control of gambling, Nevada authorities have begun to tighten up on licenses. No person convicted of a felony can get one — unless the felony was bootlegging. Former bootleggers are okay in the eyes of Nevada's officials.

Nobody worries much about any big stick-ups of a casino. There are only four roads out of town. They can be blocked in 20 minutes and there's no place to hide out in Las Vegas.

Because the town's one commodity is the chance to gamble, Las Vegas has some unusual features. To lure the big bettors the hotels have been made plush and comfortable. But nobody in Las Vegas is here to make money on the tourist or hotel business.

The big hotels like the Last Frontier and Desert Inn don't actually compete. They put on a $15,000-a-week floor show; if you want to, you can watch it for a nickel soda with no cover or minimum. A terrific steak dinner for two and fancy trimmings can be had for $10. The rooms are as plush as you can find anywhere as astonishingly low prices, from $5 up for singles and $7 up for doubles. But getting reservations is the big problem now. The hotel keepers figure if they keep a guest happy in the small change department, it'll be easier to tap his big dough at the crap table or wheel. They even serve the gamblers free drinks while playing so nobody will have to leave to quench his thirst, at a loss of perhaps a couple of hundred dollars a minute to the casino.

Actually, if you can resist the urge to bet a buck you couldn't find a more pleasant place for a vacation. Prices are low. There are lovely swimming pools, cheap motels, warm sun and perfect sightseeing. The Last Frontier Village, for instance, is a recreated western town with authentic buildings more than 100 years old.

It's not a bad place to work. Waitresses who serve the gamblers at play average about $300 a week in tips. Tips are usually in high-denomination chips. The dealers and table men average between $800 to $10,000 a year — mostly in tips from winners.

Thompson Landmark Destroyed By Fire

THOMPSON, Mich.—An old landmark was removed here on Monday when the Emil Eckberg home was destroyed by fire. The dwelling was first owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Stogren, pioneer Thompson residents, and later the property was acquired by Charles Eckberg.

The four-room home and contents were destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance. The fire department, assisted by hatchery trucks, saved the other buildings from the grass fires in the area.

1,800* people can telephone through this "tunnel" at the same time!

It is a coaxial cable no larger than a man's wrist. Containing eight small copper tubes, it is so ingeniously used that it can carry 1,800 Long Distance conversations at the same time!

Telephone construction crews of the Bell System's Long Lines department are busy these days completing the installation of just such a cable between Detroit and Toledo. In recent years, a great network of coaxial cables has been spread from coast to coast to multiply the voiceways of the nation.

It is a good thing for America that the Bell System has spent millions of dollars to build these bigger telephone pathways. For today the demands of defense are putting heavy loads on Long Distance lines.

These coaxial cables together with telephone radio relay, other kinds of cable, and wire lines, are carrying thousands of calls to help this country speed its production and guard its safety.

*About twice as many as we could squeeze into our picture!

Plant Shrubs At City Beach

Landscaping Work Now Under Way

City Forester Bob Clayton and his crew this morning started the planting of 632 plants, shrubs and trees at the Escanaba beach area. The shipment arrived Wednesday night from a nursery in Wisconsin and will be planted within the next several days.

The varieties and the number of each being planted at the beach area follow: 42 Downy Virburnum, 10 Wayfaring Tree, 32 Arrowwood, 9 High Bush Cranberry, 8 Nannyberry, 32 Virginia Rose, 64 Prairie Rose, 37 Gray Dogwood, 38 Redstem Dogwood, 2 Glossy Buckthorn, 12 Buffalo Berry, 20 Snowberry, 11 American Elder, 11 Juneberry, 34 Cotoneaster, 8 Burning Bush, 6 Winged Burning Bush, 102 Barberry, 10 Nanking Cherry and 9 Red Chokeberry.

Trees being planted in the area include 12 Pfitzer Juniper, 6 Austrian Pine, 6 White Pine, 3 Red Silver Crabapple, 8 Thorn Apple, 6 Honey Locust, 12 Weeping Willow, 10 Laurel Leaf Willow. In addition 21 trees from the city nursery were planted this spring. They included 2 White Birch, 10 Weeping Willow, 1 Silver Maple and 8 Green Ash.

The varieties are all hardy and the flowering plants and shrubs should bloom this summer, Clayton reported.

The grass planted at the beach area last fall has taken root, except for several areas where the frost killed the tender shoots. These areas will be reseeded, Clayton reported.

The new beach will be placed in operation this summer as soon as swimming weather arrives, probably after the close of school classes. Lockers for the beach house are on hand and will be installed before the opening of the season.

Conservation Chief May Be Chosen At Session This Week

LANSING—(P)—The appointment of a chairman and a secretary and possibly the naming of a commissioner are expected to be the main order of business for the conservation commission today and tomorrow.

The information today will be followed by Friday's meeting when any decisions could be made official.

For the first time since April 1, when terms of two of the commissioners expired, the commission will be at full official strength.

The reappointment of lame duck members Joseph P. Rahilly of Newberry and Don B. McLouth of Detroit by Governor Williams recently brought the commission back to full membership.

Commission Secretary Wayland Osgood, D. J. Curry, Upper Peninsula regional director and Robert McLaughlin, former deputy director who resigned to take employment in McLouth's Detroit steel firm, are among the leading candidates for the post of director.

Other commission business will include approval of the acquisition of some $250,000 worth of hunting land, mainly in Southern Michigan.

Strangler Of Woman Says He Gave Her 15 Minutes To Pray

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—(P)—A 26-year-old factory worker told police he strangled a woman to death in a culvert after giving her 15 minutes to pray.

Cecil Vernatter was charged with the murder of Mrs. Goldie Gibson Richie, 45, in a warrant issued last night by magistrate H. M. Adkins.

Detective Chief Herman Frazier quoted Vernatter as saying he killed Mrs. Richie after she told him his girl friend was not true to him.

"I can't stand anyone to talk about my girl friend," Vernatter told officers, "so I told her I was going to kill her."

She pleaded for time to pray, the police report continued, so Vernatter allowed her to kneel in the culvert for 15 minutes. Then he said he strangled her with a strip torn from her slip.

Her body was found in the culvert yesterday, half buried in sand.

Army Set To Release Son, 16; Reports He Was Killed In Action

GARY, Ind.—(P)—Joseph Kresno added to his 16 years last July to enlist in the Army.

His mother, Mrs. Anna Kresno, told the defense department the truth about his age after getting letters in which her son told of fighting Chinese Communists' positions in Korea with rifle and bayonet.

She told the defense department her son should be sent home. The defense department assured her he would be and asked her to clarify the details of his enlistment.

Yesterday she was notified that her son was killed in action on April 22.

Court Action May Block Gas Tax

fused to sign it because it taxes one type of truck on one basis and another type on another basis.

Declaring he was "keenly disappointed" when his veto was overridden, the governor signed a group of companion bills. These bills redistribute highway tax money and reform state and local road administration.

Erlandsen On Spot
The road money will be distributed 44 per cent to the state, 37 per cent to the counties and 19 per cent to municipalities.

The tax increase was hailed by Lawrence A. Rubin, federation executive director, as "a victory of the motorists of Michigan." He said the "small tax increase will be more than offset by lowered driving costs due to elimination of pot-hole surfaces, uneconomical city congestion and dangerous horse and buggy roads."

The sparks of anger following the house vote to override flew in all directions.

The Democratic house caucus met soon afterwards and Rep. Michael J. O'Brien was deposed as chairman of the Wayne county delegation. O'Brien said he was not disturbed by the action since the post is largely honorary.

In the senate, Republicans vented on Rep. Einar E. Erlandsen (D-Escanaba) their resentment at Democrats who refused to vote for overriding.

One Kept Alive
Senator Joseph P. Cloon (R-Wakefield) watched the house vote and then rushed back to the senate to demand that two of Erlandsen's bills be buried in committee.

One of them was. It would have closed additional parts of Big and Little Bays de Noc to commercial fishing to protect sport fishing for walleyes.

The other was put over until Friday, and was kept alive. It would appropriate $1,500 to Casper S. Schuler, of Gladstone to pay damages for the death of his wife following injuries on a state ferry.

The senate voted to rebate one-fourth of the oil and gas severance tax, about $250,000, to the 39 producing counties for highway purposes.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) objected that "we have already given the counties a pretty good deal on the gas tax and the state's general fund needs this money."

Navy Motor Launch Capsizes With 150 In Newport Harbor

NEWPORT, R. I.—(P)—Two sailors perished and about 135 more were pitched into icy seas today when an "edge of hurricane" storm capsized a 50-foot launch returning a shore leave party to their ships in the harbor.

Capt. T. H. Templeton, chief of staff for the naval base here, said "I don't believe anyone is missing." But he said he couldn't be sure until after a check of five vessels to which the men were returning.

Twenty-four men, including 15 stretcher cases, were hospitalized. Seconds after the launch overturned in windlashed seas a short distance out in the bay at least 15 other boats raced to the rescue.

Sailors on other liberty party boats dived overboard to help rescue their buddies.

Rough Lake St. Clair Capsizes Sailboat; Four Youths Rescued

DETROIT—(P)—Four youths were rescued from their capsized sailboat on rough Lake St. Clair yesterday.

A cruising powerboat owned by George Lynch, Detroit businessman, took the youths aboard a mile off Jefferson Beach. They had been in the water nearly an hour and the rigging of their boat was slowly disappearing under water as the rescue was made.

The youths were George and Patrick Mason, brothers, and Robert McFarland and Al Feeler, all of St. Clair Shores.

Boy, 2, Helps Save Sister From Lake

NEWPORT, Mich.—(P)—A two-year-old boy was credited with saving his three-year-old sister from drowning in Lake Erie yesterday.

The boy, Dennis Krieg, called his mother, telling her "She's in, Mommy. Come on."

When Mrs. Ethel Krieg followed her toddling son to the shore, he pointed and the mother saw her daughter, Sharon, floating in the lake.

Mrs. Krieg dashed into the shallow water and rescued the child, whom she revived in a few minutes.

Huge U. S. Program Set Up To Block Soviet Aggression

political warfare."

"In these circumstances," the president said, "the Soviet rulers will face growing internal pressures. x x x the rulers of the Soviet Union will be forced by these pressures to abandon their policy of aggression."

The money the president requested would go to speed shipments of American weapons and economic aid to nearly 50 friendly countries. It covers the fiscal year beginning July 1.

A record sum of $6,890,000 would be earmarked for western European nations, described by the president as "the most tempting prize for Soviet ambitions and our strongest Allies in the world struggle for freedom."

The remaining $1,614,000 would be spread among friendly governments in the Far East, South and Southeast Asia, the Near and Middle East and Latin America.

A total of $903,000,000 would be set aside for military and economic help to Asiatic nations including Formosa "to help keep that island out of the hands of the Communists."

Not Sure of Success
The president also urged Congress to increase by $1,000,000,000 the lending authority of the government's export-import bank. This was not a request for appropriations, but an appeal for permission for the bank to draw on the treasury up to this amount when needed.

The added loan funds, he said, are urgently required for development loans abroad, especially those which will increase the flow of strategic raw materials to the United States.

The president cautioned his whole program "is not without danger," he added:

"There can be no absolute assurance of success. There are far greater dangers in any other course."

"We cannot win peace through appeasement. We cannot gain security in isolation. We will not surrender."

Backing up his plea, the president declared "a very real and terrible danger" would face the American people if they are forced to stand alone against Russia.

"We cannot maintain our civilization," he said, "if the rest of the world is split up, subjugated and organized against us by the Kremlin."

Federal Men Trap 37,000 Lampreys In Michigan Streams

CHEBOYGAN, Mich.—(P)—Trapping of 37,000 sea lampreys during the spring was reported today by federal biologists seeking a way of controlling or eradicating these Great Lakes predators.

Streams from Point Waubesa on upper Lake Michigan to Rogers City on Lake Huron were set with sea lamprey traps. The eel-like lampreys prey on lake trout and other fish.

Those caught were destroyed or used in experiments at the Hammond Bay Research Laboratory.

President Sure War Is Blocked

His Program Is Right, Truman Declares

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman said today he is confident his program for peace will avert a new world war.

He told a news conference that another global war would mean a return to the dark ages.

And, he said, he objected to the use of the term cocky in describing his attitude that his program would succeed. He said some columnists have so described him and he thinks it is the wrong word. His attitude, Mr. Truman declared, is one of confidence that the people of the United States and of the world believe his domestic and foreign program both are right.

Mr. Truman volunteered his remarks at a moment when questioning had lagged in his weekly meeting with reporters.

He told the correspondents he had something to tell them, and went on to say that in the event of another world war, this country would be what it has not been before in world wars—a battlefield.

He said he thinks the people have enough energy and intelligence to keep from slipping back to the dark ages, but that this might be the result in the event this country does become a battlefield. He is not willing to take a chance on a third world war, he added.

He said he thought the program and policies he is trying to promote are right and that the people of the United States and the world feel they are right.

Bartender Quizzed In Gangland Killing Of Detroit Jeweler

DETROIT—(P)—Dwight Lewis Sweet, 26-year-old Chicago bartender, was brought to Detroit today to undergo questioning in the gangland-type slaying of a Detroit jeweler who had turned government witness in a $27,000 theft of photographic film.

Sweet denied any connection with the ambush-slaying of Albert Swartz, 43, here a week ago, but balked at submitting to a lie detector test in Chicago yesterday.

Swartz was to have been a key witness for the government in the Chicago U. S. district court trial Monday of two Chicago jewelers, Kenneth J. MacLeod, 37, and Kenneth Gordon, 28, charged with receiving $12,000 worth of the $27,000 worth of film stolen from an interstate shipment.

James Marshall, a jeweler in suburban Ferndale indicted in the film theft, was shot and critically wounded by a gunman after he had agreed to turn government witness. He recovered.

A Chicago bartender, John Mundo, was sentenced to 15 to 30 years in the Marshall shooting.

Fall Fatal To Wife

DETROIT—(P)—Thomas Stevens, held for questioning in the death of his wife, Frances, 26, was freed Wednesday. Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said there was "no present evidence" to warrant holding him. Mrs. Stevens first was thought to have been a hit-run victim. After her funeral, police arrested Stevens and quoted him as saying she fell out of their car as they fought.

City Clerk Leaves City With Million Dollars In Bonds

City Clerk George Harvey left Escanaba this morning with more than a million dollars worth of bonds in his possession.

The bonds are not negotiable until Harvey's signature is affixed to them. He will sign the bonds in Chicago this week and then deliver them to the bond purchasers. The bonds are in two issues, $900,000 worth of water revenue bonds and $125,000 worth of gas plant general obligation bonds.

Harvey will return to Escanaba Saturday.

Factories Given Additional Time To Post Ceilings

ers may stay under the general freeze until July 2 if they choose. But they may also adopt the new ceilings sooner unless they involve price increases. If they do, the increases can't be put into effect until DiSalle's Office of Price Stabilization has a 15-day period in which to disapprove them.

2. The wage stabilization board charted an all-day hearing today on whether to allow certain types of deferred wage increases. The four-cent an hour improvement bonus due automobile industry workers May 29 is an example. Many other labor contracts call for pre-arranged wage boosts at future dates.

Clague's new cost-of-living index figures were sufficient, incidentally, to assure the 1,000,000 auto industry workers of a three-cent hourly living cost adjustment based on the index. So if the four-cent improvement bonus is approved, auto workers will get a total seven-cent added hourly wage payment beginning in June.

Limit Rule Broken
3. The wage board also is in the process of changing its existing limit of 10 per cent on wage hikes since January 1950. It has been waiting on yesterday's living-cost index before acting. However, the government already has broken its 10 per cent rule in several important respects.

4. DiSalle was reported ready to liberalize the price-posting requirements for small retailers. Hardware dealers, particularly, had complained they could not prepare charts on all the many small items in their stocks. Some sort of option for small dealers in figuring posted price ceilings was indicated.

The ruckus stirred by DiSalle's price rollback on beef continued on Capitol Hill. Hearings resumed before the House agriculture committee. DiSalle was due to release new livestock slaughtering quotas for June accounting periods.

The shell often is described as nature's own packing case for the egg.

Truman Chinese Policy Grows More Confusing

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON—In the childhood of many of us there was a simple game called jackstraws. The idea was to pull an individual straw out of a tangled mass without disturbing any other straw. Trying to understand what the policy of the Truman administration is toward China bears some resemblance to this game. Except, it should be added, it is not at all simple. It becomes more difficult and complicated day by day.

A new straw seems to have been added to the mass by the speech that Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk made at the dinner in New York at the China Institute. That dinner was arranged by Henry R. Luce, the publisher, who has been perhaps the most faithful supporter of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in this country.

Rapped Chinese Reds
In his speech Rusk denounced the Communist Chinese government as a puppet of Russia and said that the Nationalists on Formosa would "continue to receive important aid and assistance from the United States." Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio promptly declared this was a victory for General Douglas MacArthur, since it represented just what MacArthur has been advocating. Rusk denies that his speech was intended to make any change in administration policy.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois spoke at the same dinner. His talk received less attention. The senator believes that his speech and Rusk's speech said virtually the same thing.

Therefore, it is important to note that Douglas is more specific in what he would do to try to unseat or at least unsettle the communist regime. The two main points he makes are:

1. Give American aid to guerrillas on the Chinese mainland who are at present resisting the communists. This aid would be given by American air-drops and with the use of American landing ships on strips of the China coast that are said to be held by the guerrillas. Reports are that such aid is already being given by the United States.

2. Tell Chiang Kai-shek that he is free to go back to the mainland to operate against the communists. But he would have to go in his own boats without the help of American sea or air support.

Douglas Opposes Bombing
Now this, says Douglas, is not the MacArthur policy. Douglas opposes bombing in Manchuria and China because to do so would kill Chinese civilians. Killing Chinese civilians, as he sees it, would be likely to inflame peoples throughout the orient against the United States especially since the suspicion is already widespread in the east that America considers Orientals expendable. Another reason Douglas opposes MacArthur's proposal to bomb is that it might bring Russia into what would then become World War III.

But if this is not the MacArthur policy, then neither does it conform to the testimony given by General Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, before the Senate committee investigating MacArthur's dismissal. Bradley said the JCS would have no objection to unleashing Chiang's troops against the mainland. But he made it quite plain that this could not be done without American air and navy and possibly also troop support. And JCS would not consider that a worthwhile use of extensive American forces.

Incidentally, the JCS were not consulted about the Rusk speech. It came as a considerable surprise to the Pentagon. Nor was the speech according to reliable reports, cleared with the White House.

On the surface the conclusion is inescapable that the Douglas line—or Douglas-Rusk line—represents still another China policy. Still another jack straw in the tangled heap!

As enunciated thus far, it has serious limitations. Seemingly without regard to the Korean war, it overrules the possibility of negotiation that would bring about some sort of peace in Asia. The prospect is, therefore, for continuing action against the Chinese Communists until presumably the regime in Peiping falls.

This is opposed to the kind of realism that Winston Churchill through the past three years has almost alone continued to utter. The essence of that wisdom is that if you are not to have a continuing series of small wars, which will sooner or later lead to a big war, then you must negotiate—from strength—for the best possible peace that can be obtained. Such a peace may not represent every man's wishes for every area of the world. But it might avert total disaster.

Missouri Plan To Pay Athletes Is Commended

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—There are a number of clichés about raising a man up the way he shall go and bending the twig, and such like, which is why I am happy to see that the University of Missouri has gone straight athletically.

RUARK

Missouri has announced an intention to pay its "amateur" athletes openly. The aim is altogether commendable. We flung high hands in horror at the basketball bribe scandals and we have noted a deplorable tendency toward double-dealing by this generation. The hypocrisy of the colleges, and of sports in general, I firmly believe to have been a heavy nail in the coffin of our national character.

Most of our major universities are in the bribe-and-corruption business, and have been since I can remember. The manly art of self-defense is rotten from the top down. There are few nastier businesses than off-field baseball. Amateur tennis players are generally called bums. Amateur athletics broadly are ridden with politics and are redolent of chicanery.

No "Clean Sport"
There is literally no such thing as "good, clean sport" in the old Dick Merriwell sense, yet our youth is raised to worship sports and pattern its adult life on the early example of sport, especially the professional and major league college aspects of it. It is almost like sending a child to the penitentiary to learn philosophy.

Long ago, we kicked over the cliché about it matters not who won or lost, but how well, et cetera. The point today is winning, no holds barred. I remember an instance of two years ago when a tiny kid in a soapbox was disqualified for winning with souped-up equipment, manufacture of which had been superintended by his father.

The colleges have shopped openly for talent for years, and have paid some players more than their full professors. They paid them under the table and in dark corners, and created phony jobs for the musclemen. They promised everything from blondes to Buicks as bribes, and competed bitterly with one another for the services of tough-thewed young coal heavies with minds of pure muscle. In some instances professors were even forced to phony up their educational record and issue lying reports in order to keep eligible people whose mentality was cut lower than a hog's etiquette.

Nice Guys Don't Win
Athletics, as we know them today, are a manifestation of force, with the emphasis on result. Even table tennis can be vicious, and the most completely unsporting, vindictive game I know is croquet. The heroes of the young are more apt to be the mugs than the nice ones, because, as Leo Durocher once remarked, nice guys don't win.

More dirty work goes on on a football field than in the average political hotel room deal—and, dirty as it is, it's a lot dirtier in the offices of the bland alumni and educators who run it. Nor is it any less filthy by association with the gamblers who have long since recognized the importance of winning, the people, and who have keyed their grimy livelihood to greed.

Sports are great fun and are exciting, but they have been largely spoiled for me through the years of association with the dirty end. They certainly do not build character or develop decency or improve the breed. I do not even think they enlarge a competitive spirit that isn't already there. Some of the best athletes I remember had more ki-yi in them than an average stray cur when the chips were really scattered, and I do not recall any startling characteristics of decency, honesty or generosity that could be directly traced to the playing field.

And so I greatly admire the University of Missouri for a little honesty of action in hiring the players openly and for dough instead of deceit. There is nothing morally wrong with paying a player for his services, but the way we have been skirting it for years has certainly not contributed to the moral health of the nation.

Fly Control Is Urged On Farms

Agent Advises Buying Insecticides Now

Order your barn insecticides now to assure a complete fly control campaign this summer, advises J. L. Heirman, Delta county agricultural agent.

Plans for such a fly control campaign have been sent to the agent by Charles Little, Michigan State College livestock extension specialist located at the Chatham experiment station.

By planning a complete fly control program, Little advises that farmers can do much to rid their premises of these pests. Plan to spray both cows and barns.

Clean up all possible fly breeding places and treat other areas of infestation. Manure piles can be treated with one ounce of borax per square foot of surface.

For the barn, spray with methoxychlor at the rate of three and one-quarter to four pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder per 10 gallons of water. Apply at the rate of one gallon per 1000 square feet.

For the cows, spray with methoxychlor at the rate of one pound of 50 per cent wettable powder per 12 gallons of water. Apply one to two quarts per cow at two to three week intervals. If methoxychlor doesn't do the job, Little recommends using pyrethrum spray or repellants.

A garden-type pressure sprayer will do a good job, Little states.

William Acker Of Nahma Honored On His Birthday

NAHMA, Mich. — William Acker, superintendent of the Bay de Noquet company, was pleasantly surprised Monday evening at a party held in celebration of his sixty-ninth birthday anniversary.

A cocktail party, arranged by Mrs. Acker and Marion Luce of Chicago, was held at the Acker home. Guests included: Charles E. Good, president of the Bay de Noquet company; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruska, Nell Fleming, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Atkinson.

Mr. Good was host at a birthday dinner held at the Nahma hotel in Mr. Acker's honor. Mr. Acker was presented with many attractive gifts.

Mr. Good talked briefly on his plans for the future of Nahma. He said several resort operators have presented offers, but he is still hopeful of getting one or more industries to locate in the community to provide employment for present employees of the Bay de Noquet company.

About three hundred inquiries have been received since the Bay de Noquet company launched its national advertising and publicity campaign to sell the town. The offers are being given careful study, Mr. Good added.

Marion Luce, public relations counsel of Chicago, who directed the publicity campaign, displayed a large scrapbook of newspaper and magazine clippings of stories concerning the Nahma project.

Trees Planted In School Forest

HERMANVILLE—Through the courtesy of Orville Hatle and Neal Spherhake of the Bonifas Lumber Company, approximately 5,000 spruce trees were planted last week in the school forest by high school boys.

Several years ago, the Bonifas Lumber Company agreed to sponsor an 80 acre forest tract of land 4 miles north of the community for the purpose of fostering the school forest idea in this area.

Supt. Kleimola and Harley Johnston of the faculty with the able assistance of Lester Walcutt, Menominee County 4-H leader, supervised the tree planting.

Final examinations are being held this week at Hermansville high school. School will close June 1.

Extension Club
The Hermansville home extension club will meet Monday evening, May 28 in the dining room of Rodman's Bar for a lesson on shrubbery. Each member is asked to bring a guest.

Plants in full bloom centered the smaller tables throughout the room and the flower motif was repeated in a strikingly beautiful bouquet of apple blossoms.

Sister M. Hester Is Author Of Recently Published Book

A former Escanaban, Sister M. Hester of the School Sisters of Notre Dame, a member of the faculty of Mount Mary college, Milwaukee, is the author of "Canticle for the Harvest" which has just been published by P. J. Kennedy & Sons of New York, and motion picture rights to which have been acquired by 20th Century Fox.

Sister Hester, a niece of Mrs. H. F. Defnet of this city, will be remembered as the former Billie Valentine. Her mother was the late Hester Yockey Valentine. She was born in Escanaba and attended St. Joseph's school here. A graduate of Mount Mary and of Loyola university, Chicago, she now is an English professor at the former school.

Each Chapter a Story
"Canticle for the Harvest" is a collection of stories from the archives of the School Sisters congregation and depicts its pioneering and growth.

It presents an unusual approach to historical writing. The author has selected episodes for their entertaining and character-revealing values and has recreated these episodes in somewhat fictional form. Her style is fresh and original. Each episode is a short story in itself and the whole forms a tradition-steeped history of the first hundred years of the School Sisters of Notre Dame.

Reception for Author
The publication of "Canticle for the Harvest" was the occasion of a reception for Sister Hester Saturday at The Church Mart in Milwaukee at which she spoke and autographed copies of her new book. Mrs. Defnet was a guest at the reception.

Sister Hester's previous published writings include essays, both educational and spiritual, verse and "problem" stories for teen-agers which appear in "Today."

Dinner Party For Franklin Teachers And PTA Officers

The annual dinner for teachers and Parent Teacher officers of the Franklin school was held Tuesday evening at the Stone House. Spring flowers formed the table decorations and the teachers were presented with corsages of snapdragons.

Bridge and canasta followed the dinner. Mrs. Lora Riley and Miss Helen Stenson received the awards in the former and Miss Ethel Barth and Mrs. Thaxter Shaw were high in the latter.

PTA officers, both retiring and incoming, who attended the party were Mrs. Charles Gessner, Mrs. Russell Johnson, Mrs. John Harding, jr., Mrs. John McDonough, Mrs. James Rouman, Mrs. P. A. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swank and Mrs. James G. Ward, jr.

Restore Character To Public Life, Plea Of Dr. Evans

By ED EASTERLY

CINCINNATI — (P) — The titular leader of 2,440,000 Presbyterians called on his flock today to help restore character "in all our civic and political life."

The appeal came from Dr. Hugh Ivan Evans, retiring moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America.

Dr. Evans' sermon opened the 163rd general assembly of the nation's largest Presbyterian denomination.

"Corruption, bribery, deceit in high places find the church an unwearied foe," he told the 880 commissioners (delegates) who constitute his church's highest governing body.

"Here I appeal to you to go on record for the restoration of character in all our civic and political life."

He admonished:

"Respect for Life"
"Let us increase our respect for life and property and the appreciation of genuine ethical values in every field."

The Dayton, O., clergyman did not directly mention the Kefauver committee's expose of nationwide gambling operations, but his prepared text touched on the hazards.

He cautioned:
"The lowered moral standards which lead to the belief that miracles of luck can be substituted for honest effort and solemn work x x x must not win in the contest with Christian conscience and character."

Also to be opposed, he added, are "intemperance, divorce, war and the social evils growing out of war."

Dr. Evans, who is pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church in Dayton, declared that the church must work constantly to erase "racial and national tensions."

"Here," he said, "we dare not slow our pace. At our peril, we neglect these critical issues."

The Presbyterian moderator expressed hope of a solution in these words:

"If unwearied effort is expended, we can bring to the relief of racial and international tensions a new era of love where there has been intolerance and hate. Bigotry and prejudice will feel the superb, unwearied power of love, good will and understanding."

Chicago Candidate Endorsed

Election of a successor to Dr. Evans, who has held office a year, was the general assembly's first order of business.

Two candidates already have been endorsed by Presbyteries. They are:

Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, 58-year-old pastor of the fourth Presbyterian church of Chicago, and Dr. Allan MacLachlan Frew, 44, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Ardmore, Pa.

Other important business to be disposed of before the general assembly adjourns May 30 includes these proposals:

A campaign to raise funds for improvements at the church's seminaries and colleges;

Realignment of the 40 Synods into larger regional Synods;

Changes in marriage and divorce regulations;

The need for a new seminary in the west;

Merger of the California and Utah synods and of the Arkansas and Oklahoma synods, and determination of how much money to spend on benevolences in 1952.

The general council, which administers the national church organization between general assemblies, called an important question to the attention of the convening delegates.

The council expressed opposition to a movement to legalize mercy killings and suggested that the church officially take a similar stand.

It said there was "serious danger inherent in the movement" despite the fact that many Protestant clergymen, "including members of our own church," had signed petitions advocating Euthanasia (mercy killing).

Euthanasia, the council asserted, "is in direct conflict with the interpretation of the sixth commandment" (Thou Shalt Not Kill), and legislation permitting it "would open the door to more dangerous and vicious practices."

Seek Help In Locating Girl

Marian Wheaton, 15,
Missing 6 Weeks

Aid is being sought in learning the whereabouts of Marian Wheaton, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jens Wheaton, 807 Delta avenue, missing for the past six weeks.

Marian, a high school sophomore, left home on the evening of April 9 and failed to return. She is known to have gone for an auto ride that night but her exact whereabouts have not been determined.

Her absence was reported on April 10 to city police by the girl's father who asked the department not to make the story public. Many clues have been run down by the police but no trace of the girl has been found.

Marian is a brunette with brown eyes and fair complexion, 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighing 117 pounds. When last seen she was wearing a green plaid jacket, blue jeans, brown oxfords and a green kerchief on her head.

Marian's mother, who was in the hospital at the time she disappeared, is still ill, and the continued absence has not helped improve her condition.

Anyone having any knowledge of the girl's whereabouts or any information which may lead to locating her is asked to communicate with the Gladstone police department.

Soldiers Taken On Auto Charge

Two Arraigned Here Yesterday

Charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile, two soldiers stationed at Sault Ste. Marie were bound over to circuit court when arraigned yesterday morning before Probate Judge Ralph W. Merwin, acting as city justice of the peace.

The two, Neil Thomas Ramp, 21, of St. Louis, Mo., and John Vincent Williams, 17, of West Monroe, La., were taken to the Sault yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff John M. Hewitt and Trooper Marvin Anderson. They were scheduled to be arraigned this morning before Circuit Judge Herbert W. Runnels.

The two soldiers were charged with unlawfully driving away a car belonging to Dr. E. J. Brenner, of Manistique, from the Wilson Motors parking lot late Sunday night.

Newberry state police recovered the car early Monday morning near Naubinway where it had been abandoned. A short time prior to finding the car the Newberry troopers had noticed the two soldiers hitch-hiking on US-2 and had questioned them.

The soldiers were held by military authorities at the Sault until Tuesday night when local officials returned them to Manistique.

The Menominee-Marquette Hornets, independent football team which joined the Wisconsin State league for the first time this fall, will play a full 10-game schedule. A pair of home and home exhibition games with the Iron County Steelers, two-time champion of the Upper Peninsula Amateur Football league, are also planned. The Hornets will play four home games and six away, opening at home to Sheboygan Sept. 1.

Crandall

A definite big league flavor will be added to the state Junior American Legion baseball finals at Iron River in August. Thirty-six baseballs autographed by members of the Detroit Tiger baseball team will be given to fans and players. Autographed pictures of Boston Red Sox players, large pennants from the Chicago Cubs and other teams, and many other souvenirs will be awarded at the tournament, first state championship affair ever held in the Upper Peninsula.

From pre-finals performances the Ironwood Red Devils seem favored to retain their class B Upper Peninsula track and field crown when the championships are run off here Saturday. John Leppi, a senior, is the leading Red Devil point-getter. Leppi has marks of 20.6 for the low hurdles and 15.3 for the highs so far this season. Rodney Mattson has been galloping the mile in the early 4:40s, the fastest time in the U. P. this season. Both of the Red Devil relay teams have been flirting with U. P. records, the 880 crew having a 3:39.2 mark and the medley boys clocking a 2:45.9 last week.

If the Red Devils listed above perform anywhere near those peak times Ironwood will count a total of 25 points on first places alone. And the squad numbers 23, so there will be plenty of depth to pick up stray points. Last year the Red Devils won the title with only 28 points, nosing out Escanaba with 27.

Rain Halts Tiger Tilt

NEW YORK—(AP)—You've all heard of rainmakers. Well, the Detroit Tigers should use a rain-stopper.

The Tigers came to New York, the city where they make rain artificially, and in the first three innings galloped off to a 7-3 lead over the mighty New York Yankees yesterday.

This was a rude blow to the league-leading Yankees, who have lost only one game at home this year. They didn't want to lose this one.

Then came the rain. After a wait of nearly an hour Umpire Art Passarella called off the game. The Tigers lost a chance to pick up ground and register their third straight win over New York.

Last year at this time rainmakers were sowing the clouds in New York state with dry ice as the city sought to fill up its depleted reservoirs with artificially-induced rain.

If this was a hangover of the dry ice experiment, it was costly to Pitcher Freddie Hutchinson who had a chance to pick up his third win against only one defeat.

It was even more costly to outfielder Steve Souchock, the fellow who has been filling in for Johnny Groth with gusto. Souchock, who has started in only ten games, smashed his fifth home run. But it didn't count.

The blow came with two men on base and sparked a four-run rally in the first inning. Doubles by Johnny Lipon and George Kell and a single by Don Kolloway helped score three more runs in the second inning.

One of the Yankee hits was a home run by Joe DiMaggio that produced two runs.

Tommy Byrne started for the Yankees but was relieved by Fred Sanford after giving up seven hits. The game was then halted for more than an hour and play was resumed briefly again before the second and final halt.

Only three and one-third innings had been played. The legal limit for a game is at least four and one-half innings.

Blaney Tops Naubinway 4-1 In Central Loop

BLANEY — Playing before a crowd of 250, the Blaney Cubs topped Naubinway 4-1 for their second win in the Central Baseball league.

Glen Brawley, Blaney southpaw, pitched shutout ball for eight innings. The Naubinway run was scored on an error in the ninth. Brawley pitched to 33 batters, fanning 20 and allowing only three hits. C. Marshall was his battery mate.

Tom Paquin went the route for Naubinway, scattering eight hits. Bob Wachter was behind the plate Sunday Blaney travels to Seney.

Girls Take Over Softball Field

Four Games Slated Sunday Afternoon

The female brand of softball will go on display Sunday afternoon with the two best teams in Escanaba opposing Marquette and Menominee teams.

The games will be played at Memorial field with the opener scheduled for 1:30. Tim & Sally's, winner of the city championship last year, will meet the Marquette Girls in this game.

The Eskey champs have been working out for the past two weeks and will have their lineup intact. Carol Pilon will start on the mound with Maxine Koehne ready to relieve her. The Marquette squad will be led by tosser Marian Anderson who claimed she was all through last year.

The second game, at 2:45, will pit the Delta Hardware against Marquette. The Hardware has one of the best records in girls softball last year and expect to continue their winning ways. They lost in the finals of the U. P. tourney held at the Memorial Field last year to the Menominee-Marquette Maids.

Nightcaps The third game at 4:00 will present the U. P. champions of Menominee against the Tim & Sally's championship team of Escanaba. Word from Menominee is that the Maids will again present a strong team and some of the best pitching talent in the area.

Manager Norma Dionne reports that Babe Heckel planned to retire but she has been doing that for the past several years. Babe pitched three winning games last year to help the Maids win the U. P. title.

The final game will have the Delta Hardware versus the Maids and this game should be a thriller. Fans who saw the finals last year agreed that the brand of ball played was tops. The Hardware would like to gain revenge by beating the champions.

Eskymo Netters Beat Marquette

Coach Frank Miketina's Escanaba high school tennis team gained revenge from Marquette's netters by whipping the defending Upper Peninsula champions five matches to two yesterday at Marquette.

It was the fourth straight win for the Eskys who lost their first match of the season to Marquette. Escanaba will compete in the U. P. championships at Marquette June 2.

In the singles, Brigman of Marquette beat Richard Noon of Escanaba 6-3 and 6-1. Tom Fisher of Escanaba defeated Bill Brumm of Marquette 8-6, 5-7 and 6-4. Dick Peterson of Escanaba defeated Evan Karobetsos 5-7, 6-4 and 6-4. Don Desilets of Escanaba defeated Schneider 6-0, 6-4 and Jerry Olson of Escanaba beat Young 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles, Brumm and Karobetsos teamed up to beat Dick Peterson and Desilets 6-4, 6-4.

Detroit Heavy Dumped For First Ring Loss

DETROIT—(AP)—You'll never win a fight by hanging upside down from the ringside ropes.

Ask young Embrel Davidson, the huge heavyweight who just aches to be another Joe Louis.

Thousands of television viewers and a handful of Olympia stadium fans saw California's Clarence Henry, No. 6 heavyweight contender, smash Davidson out of the ring in the eighth round last night.

Davidson, all 204½ pounds of him, dangled by his feet head down from the lower strand of rope. Referee John Weber pecked over the side at the 22-year-old Detroit and halted the battle after 50 seconds of the round.

Bears Shellac Gladstone 16-2

GLADSTONE — The Escanaba Bears shellacked Gladstone 16-2 last evening in an exhibition tilt here as a warmup for their Tri-County league home fray Sunday against Wilson.

Manager Phil Brazeau's Bears went on a 12-hit spree and were aided by a number of walks and Gladstone errors. The Redskins used three hurlers, LaLonde, Sarasin and Sundling, in the seven inning twilight contest.

Joe Rademacher went the distance for the Bears and allowed six safeties. He fanned a half dozen batsmen.

Catcher Charlie Camps led the Bears at the plate with four for five, including a double. Ray McDonald had a perfect day at the plate with two hits in two official times up. He contributed a double with the bases loaded.

The young Gladstone team opens play in the Upper Peninsula league Sunday at Republic.

St. Ann's Tops Nahma By 4-1

Al Brandt's St. Ann's grade school baseball club took advantage of a pair of hits, a walk and an error to push across four runs in the fifth inning and hand Nahma a 4-1 loss yesterday afternoon at the athletic field diamond here.

Gary Paler of St. Ann's tangled with Wayne Popour of Nahma in a tight pitching duel. Both allowed three hits, with Paler fanning 10 and walking six while Popour whiffed eight and issued three walks.

Paler scattered his three hits, all singles, in separate innings. Bob Chriske and Bill Goodreau provided the two important hits for St. Ann's in the fifth.

Bob Dubord served behind the plate for St. Ann's while Newhouse caught for Nahma. It was St. Ann's eighth win against a single loss and the first defeat for Nahma.

St. Ann's travels to Wells Saturday afternoon and to Cooks Sunday afternoon.

Joe Page Fails For Kansas City Blues

(By The Associated Press) Kansas City's American association lead has slipped to one game today after a blowup of pitchers, including the former ace fireman of the New York Yankees, Joe Page.

Minneapolis blasted three pitchers for seven runs in an eighth inning spree last night for a 9-3 victory.

Page, making his first appearance since being sent down by the Yankees, was nicked for the final three runs on two singles and two walks.

Downhill Lie Calls For Definite Swing Changes

Nineteenth of a series by members of the P. G. A. By LLOYD MANGRUM Former U. S. Open Champion

On the average course, sloping terrain will necessitate your playing a large percentage of your shots with one foot higher than the other.

Despite the importance of this phase, few really know the proper way to make such a shot.

Playing a downhill lie means your left foot is going to be lower than your right.

The normal rhythm of your swing is going to be somewhat affected by the distribution of your weight.

Definite alternations have to be made in stance and swing to insure a good shot.

An open stance should be used. The ball is lined up off the right heel because that is where the club will come nearest to the earth if a proper swing is used.

If the ball is too far forward the club will be on the upswing when it makes contact, thereby causing a topped shot.

On the backswing, the club should be brought up more abruptly since the ground will be rising behind the ball and a sweeping motion will cause the club to drag.

With the left foot lower than the right, there is going to be a great deal more weight on its than normally is the case.

Thus there is a strong possibility that the ball will hook if hit properly.

So it is best to aim slightly to the right of the target.

Considering that the ball is being played well to the rear and that you will be hitting down into the ball at the moment of impact, a club with a loft should be used.

That is, a club with more loft than would be used if the shot were being played on level ground.

Remember that you are pointing downhill and it is going to be necessary to get the ball well into the air.

A club with loft is the only thing that can achieve this.

NEXT: Lloyd Mangrum plays an uphill lie.

THE LINE-UP—Lloyd Mangrum's ball is lined off the right heel, because that is where the club will come nearest to the earth, if the proper swing is used. (NEA).

EFFICIENCY MEN—Eddie Lopat resins Yogi Berra's glove as well as his own. The Yankees' left-hander opened the season with seven straight victories and the resplendent earned-run average of 1.17. (NEA Photo)

No Caste System Used By Cardinals' Marty Marion

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Marty Marion has eliminated the caste system on the St. Louis Cardinal staff. No relievers. No starters. Just 10 pitchers. Everybody works every day if needed.

So far it has worked. In 32 games, Marion has had a total of 80 pitchers. Only 11 starters of his flu-stricken staff have gone the route. Still his Red Birds are perched in a second-place tie with Chicago, only 2½ games off the Brooklyn pace.

In recent games Marion has had the Mids touch with pitchers. Take yesterday's 6-5 win over Boston, for example.

Boston roughed up Howie Pollet for three runs in the second. The Braves were ready for more in the third when Roy Hartsfield walked and Earl Torgeson doubled him to third with one out. But Marion had enough of Pollet. In came Rookie Tom Poholsky, Saturday's starter, to smother the threat.

St. Louis came back with four off Max Surkont to take a 4-3 lead in the fourth. Two more in the sixth chased Surkont.

Poholsky rolled along, pitching shutout ball until the ninth. With one runner in, and men on first and third, Marion yanked Poholsky and called on Ted Wilks. Wilks struck out Hartsfield but gave up a run when Nippy Jones fumbled a grounder.

Marion called for Max Lanier to pitch to lefthand-hitting Torgeson. It worked. Torgie flied to Stan Musial for the final out.

Marion's magic may be lost in the shuffle if that Brooklyn gang continues to pound those home runs. Gil Hodges hit No. 14, three ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace in 1927, and Billy Cox hammered one with the bases loaded last night in the Dodgers' 11-4 romp over Pittsburgh.

Wally Westlake's 13th homer and a two-run spurt off Don Newcombe in the last of the ninth gave Pirate fans little cheer. It was the Bucs' sixth straight loss. The victory wound up a successful Dodger road trip through the west. They come home with a 2½ game lead.

Sal Maglie skirted 10 Chicago hits for his sixth straight victory for the New York Giants, 2-1, on the strength of Monte Irvin's two-run homer off Paul Minner in the fourth.

Cincinnati routed Jim Konstanty in the 10th for a 4-3 edge after the Phil's Dick Sisler hit a thomer in the top of the inning. Three singles off Konstanty tied the score. Ted Kluszewski then nicked Robin Roberts, third Phil pitcher, for a game-winning single.

Willard Ramsdell got away with a 12-hitter for his third victory. The Boston Red Sox slugged the battered St. Louis Browns, 12-0, with Mel Parnell throwing a four-hit shutout. Every Sox starter except Ted Williams hit safely in the 16-hit barrage. Williams walked five times.

Vern Stephens, who tied an American league record with 10 assists at third base, had three Boston hits. So did Lou Boudreau. Line scores:

Starter's Gun Kills Prep Distance Runner

TORONTO—(AP)—Accidental discharge of a blank cartridge from a starter's gun last night killed Paul Vamplew, a 16-year old distance runner.

The boy bumped into Coach Lloyd Percival who held the gun during track practice. The gun went off and wadding from the blank apparently hit Vamplew's heart at close range.

Slug Of Alcohol OK For Heart Patients Who Smoke, Says Doc

BOSTON—(AP)—A Philadelphia heart specialist says its perfectly all right for a heart patient to smoke provided he also takes "a good slug" of alcohol at times.

Dr. William D. Stroud explains that the alcohol offsets the constricting effect of nicotine on the coronary blood vessels.

In an address before the 170th meeting of the Massachusetts

Medical Society last night, Dr. Stroud advocated a more normal life for heart patients on the grounds deprivation of too many things leads to frustration.

"And frustration," he said, "raises the blood pressure, which is bad for the heart."

He said, "I think we doctors try to prolong life in these coronary cases by making life just as miserable as possible."

"We say that they must not smoke, that they must not drink, that they must not exercise, that they cannot take part in sports, that they cannot drive an automobile."

"In 30 years," Dr. Stroud continued, "I knew of only one person who died of coronary thrombosis (a blood clot) while at the wheel of a car. All the others were able to drive to the side of the road."

"And they can take exercise, within reason, of course."

He said that "Keeping the patient in bed too long, warning him against normal activity, and generally scaring him, will only add to his invalidism."

Dr. Stroud is professor of cardiology at the University of Pennsylvania graduate school of medicine.
